What Bynum Thinks of It. [Special to The Indianapolis News.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Democratic members of the ways and means committee of the House are pleased with the tariff bill reported by the Senate. Mr. Bynum of Indiana, one of the leading members of the committee, said:
"The bill is not a radical change from the Wilson bill. The Senate amendments are not such as will jeopardize the passage of the bill through the House. The principal changes are those putting 40 cents a ton on coal and iron ore, and the sugar duty of from 1 cent to 1.4 a pound. There is a slight increase to 1.4 a pound. There is a sight increase in the rate in window glass, which I think is not objectionable, as the rates in the Wilson bill were exceedingly low."

Senator Brice and other members among the "kickers" say the bill will pass the Senate by the solid Democratic vote, while the House leaders think it will be agreed to promptly on their side.

A Regular Postal System To Be Estab-lished in That Country.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8 .- Kores will doubtless become a member of the Universal Postal Union within a few months. Its diplomatic representatives in this city are gathering from all sources inlishment of a postal system in that country Application for admission to the union will on be made, and the final action will be taken before the close of the year.

Meantime, arrangements will have to be made for establishing postoffices in Korea, printing postage stamps, letting contracts and attending to the various details incident to the establishment of the service. The only postal system now in operation in that country is maintained on the principal hichways. Along these a few postal riders, who hold the position, almost, of royal serfs, mounted on horses kept at government expense, carry the mail.

THE PENSION BILL PASSED.

No Division in the House—Its Total Appropriations Are $151,000,000. WASHINGTON, D. C., March &-After five days of debate the pension appropriation bill, carrying $151,000,000, was passed yesterday afternoon without division. Throughout the debate there had been no criticism of the amount carried by the bill, debate being on the one hand confined to an decate being on the wine hand commed to an assault on the manner in which the present Commissioner of Pensions had administered the office, and his alleged unauthorized suspension of pensions, and on the other to a defense of the attempt of the Commissioner to purge the rolls of those who were not entitled to a place upon them. Yesterday there were several very spirited speeches, particularly those by General Henderson of Iowa, Mr. O'Neil, in closing the debate, Mr. Johnson of Indiana, and ex-Speaker Grow. All the amendments to the bill, save one, that of Mr. Pickler, to make the re neys, were defeated. They all fell under points of order that they were not germane. The one which attracted most attention was that of Mr. Enice, to repeal a portion of the provision included in the act of last December to prevent the suspension of any pension except on thirty days' notice, so as to permit the suspension in case of plain prima facie evidence that the remainers had to permit the suspension in case of plain prima facie evidence that the pensioner had procured his pension by forgery, perjury, or other palpable frauds. This amendment was offered at the suggestion of Commissioner Lochren himself, who, under the opinion of the Attorney-General, declared that if the act of last December stood, over $500,000 would have to be paid out to suspended pensioners who were proven, beyond all question, not to be longer entitled to the pensions they had been drawing. Mr. Outhwaite, the chairman of the committee of the whole, however, ruled the amendment out on Mr. Martin's point of order that it was not germane. order that it was not germane.

Bland's Bill in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8 .- An interesting debate was precipitated in the Senate yesterday afternoon by Mr. Harris's motion for the second reading of the seigniorage bill. This was opposed by Mr. Sherman, who moved its reference to the finance committee, and in the course of a strong speech in opposition to the bill said that its object was to divert a trust from its legitimate purpose—a thing which in Ohio would be a peniten-tiary oftense. His motion was defeated, however, and the bill taken up as unfinished business and almost before anyone was aware of what had happened it passed its third reading and was on the point of passing the Senate. Then its opponents recovered from their surprise and endeavored to prevent its passage and on the request of Senator Sherman it went over until to-day.

The New Armor-Piercing Shells. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8 .- The rdnance department of the army is meeting with gratifying success in procuring large armor-piercing shells of American producers that rival the best of foreign nills. Two deck-piercing shells for the new twelve-inch mortars, weighing about one thousand pounds each, have been sent to the proving ground by the Stirling Steel Company of Pittsburg, and about one hundred Carpenter armor-piercers for the twelve-inch rifles will probably be ready for shaw handed down a decision yesterday in the famous Murphy will case. The contest widow of the millionaire merchant of this city. She died in London, leaving two wills, of uncertain date, under which her daughters, Helen, Frances and Isabel, claimed the greater portion of the estate. The contestents alleged that their mother had been unduly influenced by the three had been unduly influenced by the three sisters, who were constantly with her. Judge Henshaw's decision revokes the probate of both wills, which, he says, are wholly inconsistent in their terms, and leaves the estate to be distributed among the soven children, share and share alike. MADELINE POLLARD'S SUIT

THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 8, 1894.

THE TRIAL OF THE FAMOUS DAM-AGE SUIT BEGINS TO-DAY.

Congressman Breckenridge the Defendant-The Allegations Made-In a Historic Court-House-Strong Legal Talent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—The dingy, little white court-house of the District of Columbia, an old-fashioned specimen of architecture, standing in Judiciary Square, fronted by imposing white marble pillars, and overlooking a statue of Abraham Lincoln, will be the theater for weeks to come of the most sensational episode of litigation known to the passing generation of Washingtonians.

Congressman W. C. P. Breckenridge, long titled "The Silver-Tongued Orator of Kentucky," son of a Presbyterian minister, veteran of the Confederate army, a member of one of the most distinguished families of of one of the most distinguished families of his State, and heretofore conspicuous as a politician and churchman, begins to-day the role of defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages for breach of promise and betrayal, brought by Miss Madeline V. Pollard, also a Kentuckian. Last August the suit was filed, a few days after the second marriage of Colonel Breckenridge. Since then both parties to the suit have been engaged in taking testimony in Kentucky and Cincinnati, the aftorneys for Miss Pollard endeavoring to substantiate her assertions that Colonel Breckenridge betrayed her when a girl in a seminary at assertions that Colonel Breckenridge betrayed her when a girl in a seminary at Cincinnati, was the father of her three children, and had made repeated promises to marry her; while the statements secured by
Mr. Breckenridge tend to blacken the character of the plaintiff.

Miss Pollard for a year held a clerical position in the Census Bureau at Washington and has done much writing for newspapers, sometimes under the name of Madeline Vinton Pollard and occasionally as Madeline Breckenridge Pollard. During

A FAMOUS COURT-HOUSE. Not a few of the most important criminal and civil cases of the past half century have transpired under the roof of the District transpired under the roof of the District court-house. Guiteau was convicted of the assassination of President Garfield there, and just across the hall the eloquence of Col. Robert G. Ingersoil lent interest to the long drawn out Star Route trials, while the memory of the repartee of Ben Butler and many other lights of the bar, who played leading parts in their times, are still associated with the place.

In the ordinary course of events, this trial would have taken place in the Circuit Court room, but the early pressure for ad-trial would have taken place in the Circuit Court room, but the early pressure for admission decided Marshal Wilson to transfer the case to the room of the Criminal Court, the largest in the building. Judge Andrew C. Bradley, who will try the case, is a member of one of the oldest families of Washington, a man in the prime of life, of athletic figure, with a soldierly bearing, noted among the lawyers of the District bar for his unhesitating firmness and independence. He is a leading member of the New York-avenue Presbyterian church, of which Colonel Breckenridge has been a regular attendant during his residence in Washington. Recently Judge Bradley has come into prominence through his decision against Commissioner of Pensions Lochren in the mandamus suit brought by Judge Long, of Michigan. Long, of Michigan.

SOME ABLE LAWYERS. The personnel of the legal force arrayed in the case is no less interesting. For Miss Pollard appear two of the best-known attorneys — Judge Jere M. Wilson and Mr. Calderon Carlisle. The former gained his title on the bench in Indiana, came to the apital as a member of Congress from that State, and after the expiration of his term settled here in the practice of law, figuring in many criminal and civil cases of local importance. He is a tail, thin man, bearing some resemblance to ex-Senator Evarts, but some resemblance to ex-senator Everts, but for an iron-gray beard and goates. He is a most effective pleader and remarkably well versed in the technicalities of law. His colleague is of an aristocratic Spanish family, a social leader in Washing-ton, was one of the counsel for Great Britspansa family, a social feater in washington, was one of the counsel for Great Britain in the test case over the first English ship seized for sealing in the Bering sea waters contrary to the United States laws, and has a valuable international practice.

Colonel Breckenridge, it is understood, will take a leading part in his own defense. If he does so, there can be no doubt of the ability with which it will be conducted. apart from the able assistance he will receive from Col. Phil Thompson, an ex-Congressman from Kentucky, who is a brilliant lawyer. Col. Enoch Totten, of the counsel for the defense, is one of the strongest Washington attorneys, a middle-aged man with a white mustache. He is in Florida because of weak health and will not return until the 15th, for which reason the defense has unsuccessfully endeavored to secure a further postponement of the trial.

has unsuccessfully endeavored to secure a further postponement of the trial.

One of the most active workers in the arrangement of the defense is a son of Col. Breckenridge, who has been untiring in his efforts in his father's behalf. The issue of the charges against him is considered of the most vital importance to the Kentuckian, the beautiful for realection to his since his campaign for re-election to his seat will be conducted this summer. In Washington society, and particularly Ken-tucky circles, the greatest interest is manifested in the case.

THE PROCEEDINGS TO-DAY.

Half an hour before 10 o'clock, the time for the court to open, the corridors swarmed with curious people, endeavoring by every device to pass the doorkeepers Among them were several old ladies, half ashamed of their presence. When Colonel ashamed of their presence. When Colonel Breckenridge arrived there was a ruddy glow of health on his face. He was accompanied by Ben Butterworth, who had been engaged to take the place of Colonel Totten in the defense. Colonel Breckenridge sauntered over to the reporters' table, where he shock hands with some of his time? he shook hands with some of his iriends.
"How are you feeling, Colonel?" one of

"First rate; I should say I was," was the "First rate; I should say I was," was the answer.

Col. Phil Thompson, of Breckenridge's counsel, was also absent, and, to the disappointment of the curious, the plaintiff falled to appear, although there were two stylishly-arrayed women in the court-room. William F. Mattingly rose when the case was called to state that he appeared in the preliminaries in the absence of Colonel Thompson. He made inquiry about some depositions which he said had been taken for the plaintiff and withdrawn from the files of the court. Mr. Carlisle replied that the living witnesses could be produced in place living witnesses could be produced in place of the depositions. Mr. Mattingly protested that he had never known of an important case in which the contents of the depositions had been withheld after the trial began, and the defendant given no chance to take reputitive gridence. Index Bradley began, and the defendant given no chance to take rebutting evidence. Judge Bradley ruled that the proper time to object to the depositions was when they should be offered. Mr. Wilson, for Miss Pollard, gave notice that all the affidavits taken for the defendant would be objected to on the ground that they were irrelevant and much of their contents hearsay. At this juncture the two women present in the court swept out of the court room apparently disappointed at not having seen Miss Pollard.

A quarter hour of whispered discussion between Colonel Breckenridge and his lawyers followed, in which it became known that the expected motion for delay on account of Colonel Totten's absence would not be made by the defendant. During this brief full the panel of jurors was submitted to counsel for their inspection and vetoes.

THE JURY SELECTED. ortly before 11 o'clock twelve jurors, their dress in the middle walks of life, were sworn to truly try the issues between Madeline Pollard and William C. P. Breckenridge. There were thirty names on the panel, and each side was allowed to strike off four by the rules of the Circuit Court. It was apparent that counsel had posted themselves on the jurors, because the rejected eight included the five colored members of the panel. Colonel Thompson, for Mr. Breckenridge, then asked the court to pass the case until to-morrow on account of the large mass of testimony which had just arrived, and not been examined, and because Mr. Butterworth had only been called into the case the night before. Judge Bradley assented, and the trial was continued until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Miss Pollard was about to start for the courthouse when the trial was adjourned. She was accompanied by a lady friend, who has remained with her much of late, but her lawyers sent a messenger to meet her with the announcement of the adjournment, and lawyers sent a messenger to meet her with the announcement of the adjournment, and she returned home. She will be present to-morrow and throughout the trial.

FATE OF COUGHLIN, ACCUSED OF

Apparently the least concerned person in the court-room was the prisoner at the bar. The big ex-detective sat in his usual seat, his overcoat thrown over his shoulders and his elbows resting on a table. He was a trifle paler than usual, and the anxious lines upon his face were a trifle more deeply drawn, but he showed no other evidence of the anxiety he must have felt as his trial reached its climax.

COUGHLIN AND HIS FAMILY. Coughlin was non-commital regarding his opinion of the jury's verdict, though it was evident from his manner that he was very

There is no telling what the jury will do," he said, quietly; "but I think that I will be a free man. The jury is a good one, but nobody can tell what the verdict will be." Coughlin took in the reading of the Court's instructions with the greatest inter est. He turned his face toward the Court est. He turned his face toward the Court, and, with his head leaning on his left hand, drank in every word uttered by Judge Tuthill. Mr. Bottum during the reading leaned back in his chair and carefully scanned the ceiling, as though he had never seen it before. His assistant, Mr. Scanlan, found a wonderful fascination in the wall directly over the heads of the jurors. Mr. Wing and Mr. Donohoe kept their eyes fixed closely on Judge Tuthill. The lawyers for the detense had no opinion to express concerning the probable verdict, to express concerning the probable verdict, though their manner plainly indicated that they expected but one result, and relied confidently on that result being in favor of being in favor of their client.

Beyond the table at which the prisoner sat, shielded from the curious gaze of the spectators, sat a little group whose evidences of anxiety were more apparent than elsewhere in the court-room. Eagerly leaning forward in her chair, listening to the ing forward in her chair, listening to the Judge's words with painful intentness, sat the sweet-faced, sad-eyed little woman who throughout the weary weeks of the tedious trial had daily visited the court-room — the prisoner's wife. Now and then she turned her zaze anxiously upon her husband, and then turning again toward the Court, she resumed her attitude of attention. With Mrs. Coughlin were hertwo children, the little girl Annie, and fairhaired hittle boy, Parnell. Before the opening of court the children sat on their father's knee, stroking his face, and prattling of childish doings, but now they sat quietly and awe-struck, their mother's anxiety and the solemnity of the scene charming them into silence. Back of Mrs. Coughlin's chair, his gray hair mingling with the brown curls of the little girl who sat in his lap, the aged father of the prisoner listened to the delivery of the the prisoner listened to the delivery of the charge. He, too, had been a constant at-tendant at the trial, and had aged visibly during the progress of the case. IN THE JURY'S HANDS. "The officers of the court will come for rard and take charge of the jury," said Judge Tuthill, and the four bailiffs raised their hands and took the oath. Then the twelve men filed out and the Coart wave orders that the court-room be cleared. Many of the spectators were reluctant to leave, and a scene of confusion followed, as police officers pushed the crowd through the doors and down the corridor.

Through all the confusion the prison sat unconcerned, smiling greetings to his friends and acquaintances as they passed him. Directly after the court-room had been cleared Coughlin rose from his seat in front of the jury box where he has sat for so many weary and anxious days and passed around the pillar standing between him and his wife, Mrs. Coughlin, who has borne up bravely so far during the trial, broke down somewhat as her husband sat down near her. The big tears rolled slowly down her face and she clutched at her husband's sleeve, saying, chokingly, "Oh Dan" Coughlin made a low ronly. "Oh, Dan." Coughlin made a low reply, which no one heard, and followed it up with a pleasant smile of reassurance. Then he sat down, holding his little daughter in his lap, down, holding his little daughter in his lap, to await the verdict. His little boy, a bright, happy little chap, was with him a second later, and the prisoner busied himself with amusing them both. Mrs. Coughlin, in a few moments, regained her composure and Dan's father, wearing a big, black ulster and with his black derby cocked over his left eye in a somewhat "sporty" fashion, which feeling was not, however, reflected in the face below it, walked slowly around, restless and low it, walked slowly around, restless and uneasy. In a few minutes he, too, cooler off and took his place beside his son to await the incoming of the jury.

BUMORS ABOUT THE BALLOTING. Other rumors flew about the corridors thick and fast regarding the progress of the balloting in the jury-room. The story most often repeated, and that which received more general belief, was that on the second ballot the jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. It was also said that subsequent ballots showed an unchanged

A NOTED CRIMINAL CASE. The Murder of Dr. Cronin, of Which Coughlin and Others Were Accused.

The Coughlin trial has been one of the most noteworthy in the criminal annals of the country. Like the former Cronin trial, it has been replete with sensations and of remarkable duration. Daniel Coughlin, an ex-city detective, was charged with complicity in the murder of Dr. P. H. Crouin, a prominent Irish physician. Cronin was well known in one faction of the Clan-na-Gael, and it was to members of that faction that his murder was charged. At the former trial Coughlin and Martin Burke and Patrick O'Sullivan were convicted of the murder and sentenced to imprisonment. The two latter died in prison, but Coughlin secured a new trial. Dr. Cronin disappeared on the evening of May 4, 1889. After a protracted search, his body, mutilated and decomposed, was found in a catch-basin in the northern part of the city. In the same section of the city stands the little Carlson cottage, where this theory of the prosecution places the murder.

In the present trial, after five weeks' work, the jury was accepted on December 5 last. After the jury was completed, several sensations were sprung, in the shape of charges against jurymen, and three men who had been accepted were excused from service. On December 11 the case was opposed with the fol-The Coughlin trial has been one of the ma

CHICAGO, March 8.—An eager, curious crowd thronged Judge Tuthill's court-room and rushed through the corridors without the door to-day, anxious to witness the closing scenes of the famous Coughlin trial. Within the railing of the court-room were grouped the prominent figures of the great case, all nervously anxious. Prosecuting Attorney Bottum and his assistant had drawn their chairs up before the jury, and sat gazing scarchingly into the faces of the twelvemen. Prosecuting Attorney Bottum and his assistant had drawn their chairs up before the jury, and sat gazing scarchingly into the faces of the twelvemen. As Judge Tuthill entered the court-room and the bailiff's gavel sounded clear and sharp, a murmur of expectation ran through the room, and the specified in the decense of the second of the court's charge. Judge Tuthill read his instructions, which were quite long, filling nearly twenty-five closely type-written pages. They were for the most part of a general nature, very few of the specifie directions handed in by the consul being used.

Attorneys Wing and Donohoe, who have so ably defended the prisoner, shifted nervously in their seats, listening intently to the instructions, which might have much to do in deciding the fate of their client. AN ALIBI BY THE DEFENSE.

Much medical testimony was introduced by the defense to show that Dr. Cronin's death might have resulted from disease and not from the wounds found on his body, but its principal effort was directed toward establishing an alibi with three witnesses, who swore to having seen Coughlin during the evening when he was supposed to have been engaged in the killing, and their testimony was unshahen. Several days were consumed by rebutial evidence, and lengthy speeches were made by coursel. Throughout the long trial the most intense interest has been manifested, and the court-room has daily been thronged by spectators.

A CHANCE FOR IRELAND.

Present Political Conditions In England May Help Home Rule. LONDON, March 8 .- Lord Rosebery held his first Cabinet meeting this aftern The ministers were mainly occupied with drafting the Queen's speech, which is to be delivered upon the approaching opening of Parliament. This speech, it is said, will be a most important document, as it will practically open a new chapter in the history of the United Kingdom. Considerable interest is manifested in the speech, not only among the Liberals, Conservatives and other parties represented in Parliament, but among the Queen's subjects at large. Her Majesty's Irish subjects are probably more deeply interested in it than any other class of people. It is unfortunate at this critical period in history that there should be dis sensions in the Irish parliamentary ranks, as even the Conservatives admit that the constant and admirably conducted warfare waged by the represent-atives of the Irish people in Parliament has finally resuited in practically convinc-

There is continued dissension in the ranks of the McCarthyites, and the Healystes, , who are said to number twenty-six, have decided that unless Lord Rosebery is pro-pared to give the most explicit assurances in regard to home rule and the evicted tenants messures, they will divide against the government. It is reported that if the Dillonites show any inclination to carry matters with a high hand at the coming meeting of the party, Messrs. Healey and Arthur O'Connor will refuse to serve any longer on the committee. In that event, it is added, Messrs. Esmonde and O'Driscoll will resign the duties of whips, and important changes in the committee are pre-

Weir is age about fifty-five, and came to Cleveland from Indiana.

He Is Found Again. CHICAGO March 8 .- According to a story current here, Tascott, the alleged murderer of millionaire Snell, visited Chicago in disguise during the World's Fair, spending a week. Tascott is much changed in appearance, and is said to be running a drug store at a Michigan lumber camp.

A report comes in a round-about way from New Harmony that while George Elder, Charles Wheatcraft and Percy Bennett were boating and hunting on the Wabash river, near Boman's Bend, in a boat called the Sally Ann, their attention was attracted by a phosphorescent light on the hillside, which they investigated. There had been for years traditions of hunted transpare on the hillside, and it phorescent light on the hillside, which they investigated. There had been for years traditions of buried treasure on the hillside, and it was fairly honeycombed with excavations, save at this particular point. Digging down several feet, they unearthed a rusty box, strongly clamped, which they carried to the boat and opened. A mass of yellow coin was disclosed, the collection embracing doubloons, Spanish pieces of eight, and other money, besides which there was a portrait of a beautiful girl, apparently twenty-one years old, on the corner of which was inscribed in Spanish, "Donna Lucille." The painting showed evidences of antiquity. The finders are said to have communicated with the Government at Washington relative to their discovery, and if washington relative to their discovery, and if no heirs can be found they will claim it as their own. There is a tradition extant at Vincennes that when that place was still an Indian trading post, three men, pursued by Indians, were compelled to abandon their cance at Boman's Bend, and, after burying an iron, box filled with treasure, they tried to iron box filled with treasure, they tried to escape overland. They were pursued and massacred. The box was never recovered, unless it is the one now said to have been found by this trio of New Harmony hunters.

SHE DOES NOT KNOW OF HER HUSBAND'S CONVICTION.

More of His Operations Coming To Light-The Condition of Affairs At Gravesend-A Charge of Jury Bribery.

NEW YORK, March 8 .- Mrs. John Y. Mo-Kane is not expected to live. The details of the trial and conviction of her husband have been kept from her. She was aware, however, that a warrant had been issued for his arrest on contempt proceedings three months ago, and since then she has been confined to her room, suffering from nervous prostration. At present she is not aware that Mr. McKane is in Sing Sing prison, serving a six years' sentence. Mr. McKane's blind son, George, said today that his mother's condition was alarming. No one had the courage to tell her the real condition of affairs, and as a result she suffers under the most intense suspense. Mrs. McKane incessantly asks why her hus band does not come home, and if that is im possible why he does not write. Dr. Hill. the attending physician, is of the opinion that if she were made aware of the real truth, death would follow. Since McKane went to Sing Sing the citizens' committee has been digging into such books as are available, and they are mighty few, for McKane, who personally held nearly all the offices of importance in Gravesend, appears to have kept the major-ity of accounts in his hat, and to have mixed up Gravesend money with his own in the most careless way.

AFFAIRS BADLY MIXED. The Gravesend police are in open rebellion. Many of them have not been paid money due them for months, while others have been coerced into loaning money to this one or that one of McKane's lieutenants without the slightest hopes of ever recovering a dollar. long ago a special policeman complained to McKane that money due him had not to McKane that money due him had not been paid. McKane said it had, and declared he had given a check for the money to John W. Murphy. The officer saw Murphy and asked for his money. The only satisfaction he got was, "Well, I lost the check; see?" That officer has never yet received his money. He got no sympathy from McKane when he repeated his demand. He was advised by other officers not to be "too fresh."

too fresh. A member of the citizens' committee said A member of the chizens committee saturoday: "It is a well-known fact that McKane dishursed most of the money in cash and not by check. It is quite apparent that he kept his own and the town's accounts together. While that is not evidence of wrong-doing, still it is suspicious. On his trial statements were made to show that wrong-toring, still tells suspicious. On his trial statements were made to show that McKane, during the year 1893, only received $100 in addition to his salary of $1,000 as supervisor for all his services to the town. This statement is misleading. The records show that he has received more money, and it is not shown that the money was used to it is not shown that the money was used to pay town bills or the police.

"Gravesend is practically under the control of any man who is elected as supervisor, financially, morally, and, if I may say it, physically, because of special laws which have been passed at every session of the Legislature during the last few years. Some of these bills were harmful to the interests of the town. It is well known that the bills were enacted to help McKanz. There is one bill in particular, passed in There is one bill in particular, passed in 1892, which gave complete control to Mc-Kane of the fund received from the sale of common lands amounting to $572,000, which under the provisions of that act has since dwindled to $330,000.

M'KANE'S OPERATIONS. "All this money has gone into the hands of John Y. McKane, and an investigation of the contracts for improvements to public buildings, etc., alone can show whether it was properly expended or not. Counsel been unable to see the contracts; they are not on file in the town clerk's office, and it is regarded as probable that they are not at Coney Island police headquarters. Why, only John Y. McKane can tell. Among the favored contractors are Michael J. Dady, an intimate friend of Mc-and James McKane. and James McKane.

"Large sums of money have been expended to improve the streets, particularly at Coney Island; short term bonds have been issued to meet the expense incurred, and these are past due. It is believed that the last bonds signed by the ex-supervisor, which were offered for sale a few weeks ago, were to take up these short-term bonds. I would not be surprised to learn that the town of Gravesend is bonded to the tune of $1.000.

ODD FELLOWS' CELEBRATION. Arrangements For a Big Day In May -Reception and Addresses

The Odd Fellows of Indiana have taken the first steps preparatory to a great gathering of the order in this city. W. H. Leedy and C. E. Rubush of the committee on arrangements to-day made the following announcement:

announcement:

Upon the request of the grand master and grand patriarch, and suggestions of prominent members of the order, the matter of a proper recognition of the seventy-fitth anniversary of American Odd Fellowship was presented to the lodges of this city. The lodges, with one exception, voted unanimously that a great State celebration ought to be held at this time for the good of the order, and each appropriated its pro-rate share of the funds necessary for the expenses. The time fixed for this celebration is May 16 next, during the semi-annual meeting of the grand lodge. We enter into the spirit of this event with much enthusiasm, for the reason that it has the earnest approval and assistance of the grand officers, and for the further reason that we believe that every Odd Fellow in the State will be interested in its success. We are enabled to outline in the following about what our program will be:

Reception of lodges, encampments and cantons.

Reception of lodges, encampments and cantons.
One of the largest and finest civic parades ever witnessed in Indiana, as follows: Five hundred Pstriarchs Militant in unitorm, tenthousand subordinate and encampment members; fifteen hundred members of the Grand Lodge; also the grand sire, grand master, grand patriarch and other distinguished members of the order. It is proposed to make a part of the parade several elaborate floats, emblamatic of Odd Fellowship. It is also hoped to place in the parade the smallest, the tallest, the largest and the oldest Odd Fellow in America.

Mr. Leedy says that the committee expects to bring 25,000 visitors to the city. "We shall ask for no assistance," he said, "from the city or from business men. We hope the people will decorate their houses in honor of the event. We will do the rest."

SHE ORDERED MUCH GOODS, But the Storekeepers Could Not Fine the Place To Deliver Them.

One of the business men is Jacob Wormser, who the business men is Jacob Wormser, who has a grocery at Wilkins and Maple streets. She of the yellow hair and laughing eyes stopped at Wormser's place and ordered a bill of goods to be delivered the next morning before 9 o'clock to a certain number in Church street. Just because she wanted them at once she would take two cans of tomatoes, some canned salmon and a few other little things with her. To this Mr. Wormser consented. Yesterday morning a man seated on a wagon load of groceries MEMORIES.

He was convinced of that fact by Ben Fry, the fruit dealer, who was perched on a wagon load of fruit and candy, and was looking for the same number. She of the golden hair and eyes that were laughing, ordered condy accounts from Mr. Fry to I once knew a little girl four years old, whose bright, happy face, and sweet win-ning, childish prattie, won all hearts. She never knew her mother again. She was literally frightened out of her senses. The mother's anguish was terrible. The remorse of the thoughtless servant girl was so great that it softened in part the bitter indignation of the mother. The mind of the child was blotted out, swept away by the cruel blow. From that time there was never one moment of mental consciousness She never knew or spoke her own name bright, sparkling, laughing eyes were windowless abodes, from whence beamed not one ray of intelligence. For two years she lived and suffered, having frequent convulsions that could only partly be controlled by the use of powerful opiate HOPELESS MISERY.

Once I was in the home, and saw the child clutch her little, wasted arms about her father's neck and scream. The mother ran quickly in, and the father held the little sufferer tightly with one hand, while with the other he helped the mother to pry open the little mouth. They forced a dose of chloral down the throat of the struggling, gasping child. Soon she became quiet, and, with her tiny, wasted hand, patted her father's cheek, while the weary little head fell limp against his shoulder. The father caressingly stroked her curls, and, looking at me, said: "The medicine relieves her, and that is why she pats my cheek," I was glad to learn soon afterward that poor blighted, little Rose had been gathered from earth, to blossom again in the gardens

The fools are always murdering children, though the work is not always done so effectually as in this case. They cripple by carclessness, and half kill them by terror. There are thousands of little, innocent children who will carry through their lives, and to the grave, and into the world of spirits, natures out of which half the sweetness, and brightness, and beauty, and joy have been crushed by ignorance or brutality. The hand that should guide smites. The voice that should soothe jars the sensitive chords, and they are untuned forever. There are fathers in this city who are kinder to their blooded colts, and mothers more tender and caressing to their flowers than to their children. Let the servants strike the colt or bruise the flowers and ers than to their children. Let the servants strike the colt or bruise the flowers and they are discharged, but the precious immertals, that must bloom or wither forever, are too often cruelly punished and wantonly neglected. The life that does not blossom in childhood and youth may, by the grace of God, have light at noon, and peace at sunset, but misses the morning glory upon the hills and the dew that sparkles on the grass and flowers. Her home was the brightest one I ever knew. Her husband was happy and her children light-hearted and joyous. She told me that when a child house was full of little boys and girls, and in all her childhood she had never heard house was full of little boys and giris, and in all her childhood she had never heard her father or mother speak one unkind word to each other or to one of the children. Her father played the flute most beautifully, and to her memory the first conscious sounds every morning were the notes of the flute stealing upon the slumber, and with melody arousing the sleeping children and awakening them with sweetest music. The flute was like a bird, and never failed to rouse them with its morning carol. That music crept into her heart and soul, and became a part of her life. After fifty years it was playing on every feature of her face and laughing in her eyes, It broke out in every word, and look, and act. On her lace there rested no shadow, not even a wrinkle. At fifty she did not look twenty-five. Time had lightly passed her by. Fathers and mothers fill to the brim of their lives, your children, with music, laughter and song. Make their lives to blossom as a garden full of sweetsmelling flowers and their lives will be roses of joy.

AUSTRALIA'S CRIMINAL COLONIES. For many years Australia was used as the dumping-ground for England's criminals. All classes, from the madman to the petty thief, were transported there, and herded together. Separated from women and children and every humanizing influence, those still retaining the germs of redeeming quali-ties, seemed to have every spark of light ties, seemed to have every spark of light and hope crushed out. They who once were innocent, smiling babes, held to a mother's loving heart, became fiends and devils; but deep in the souls of the most degraded there glowed a spark of that blessed spirit that flashed the stars and colored the flowers. More than twenty miles distant from a colony of the most hardened and ungovernable of these criminals an English woman kept a hotel. She had taken with her to that far-off home a pair of English larks. The men heard of it, and a score of them gathered together and agreed on the next Sunday to go and hear the larks sing. As the time drew near they grew more and more impatient, and when at last the day came, they were off bright and early, trudging over rough roads and rocky ways, oblivious to all sense of weariness.

Their journey ended, they hoped at once to hear the glad notes they had heard in their childhood homes, but for a while were disappointed. One lark had died, and the mate was in mourning and refused to sing. His head was drooped on his breast, and his wings hung limply down, but his mistress assured the men that he would sing just at noon, and at last the little feathered exile began, while the savage men gathered exile began, while the savage men gathered around his cage and a dead stillness reigned

And when he began another song, and trilled with all his little might, the story of green meadows, shady brooks and honey clover, the shagy mouths opened and coarse lips trembled, and many a drop trickled down, bronzed and rugged cheeks, as they remembered how they, wretched creatures, with unshaved faces and tangled hair, full of oaths and strife—far back in the past, in that blessed mother country, had been tow-headed boys, romping in English fields with little sisters and brothers. They had seen the lark rise, and heard him sing this very song, whose notes were created, tuned and made perfect to please humanity when first it breathed in the garden of Eden.

RECOLLECTIONS OF CHILDHOOD.

RECOLLECTIONS OF CHILDHOOD.

Now, their little playmates lay in the peaceful church-yard, and they were full of drink, and lusts, and remorse. But no note was changed in this immortal song, and for the moment years of vice rolled away like a dark cloud from the memory, and the childhood past shone out in the glory of song. The cottage home, the old mother's tears, the village church with its simple chimes, the chubby playmates who never grew to be wicked, the clover field where they played, while the lark praised God overhead, and the aweet hours of youth, innocence and home. Yes, they were men after all, and all that was manly within them responded to the sweet voice of a lark. RECOLLECTIONS OF CHILDHOOD.

But there is no ruin without remedy—except that which man makes for himself by abusing mercy and throwing away profered opportunity. I would teach these men what they did not understand, the meaning of the lark's song, that it chanted to them of the Father in Heaven, who loves them still—loves them more than the mothers who bore them—that it rang triumphant, telling of forgiveness for wrongs, follies and crimes of the past life, that it soars to the gate of Heaven with the message that a million of years from to-day they may each and every one be a child of the heavenly Father and an heir of glory, having the freedom of the heavens and the blessedness of everlasting life. SOME REFLECTIONS UPON THE SENATE.

It is surprising how swiftly the Senat can move when it is dealing with a silly and vicious measure. No one can have forgotten its criminal delay in passing the repeal bill last autumn. And the country is looking forward to a repetition of dilatoriness in its treatment of the tariff bill. But yesterday Bland's crazy bill came up in the Senate. Senator Harris at once moved that it be read a second time. Senator Sherman thought that so important a bill should take the usual course, and so moved its reference to the finance committee. His motion was defeated, and almost before the opponents of the bill could catch their breath, it had been read for the third time and was almost on the point of passing, when Mr. Sherman "requested that it go over until to-morrow"-and it went over. What Mr Sherman could not accomplish by a motion he accomplished by a "request," He said: "No one dreamed that the bill would pass to-day," Whereupon Mr. Harris re-"No matter what any one may have dreamed, if the Senator from Ohio wants time, he shall have it," We see here the Sepate at its very worst. Good legislation must take its time-or, rather, the Senate's time-must be put through all the paces that the rules of "dignified" body provide. But a hopelessly bad measure has the right of way, and nothing can stop it, except the intervention of senatorial courtesy.

It is no wonder that the people of the country are losing confidence in and re- Treasury Department, who seems to have spect for the Senate. Intended by the framers of the constitution as a check upon the more radical and capricious Secretary of the Treasury, and insisted action of the lower House, it has proved that there had been no violation of the radical and capricious than the more popular body. It will be remembered that the country was saved from free coinage Messrs. Roosevelt and Thompson said: by the wisdom and patriotism of the

The reasons for this degeneracy are not far to seek. It is not necessary to set them out here, further than to say that what were supposed to be the peculiar writues of the Senate have served to make it very attractive to unworthy men. The length of the senatorial term, the lack of dependence upon the popular will, and the method of electing Senators—all these things have made it possible for unworthy rich men and cuntral servers and the senatorial term, the lack of law and to render himself liable as a law-breaker. He advised the commission of an illegal ast and took the initiatory steps toward its commission. As a result of this a letter was written to the Secretary of the Treasury transmitting a copy of the report of Comning politicians to make their way into the Senate: and the supposed superior dignity of the office has made it most attractive to men who crave an artificial distinction as a cloak for their own commonplace vulgarity? The result is that Senate has degenerated-into what it is to-day. The law is specific and was intended to be most carefully guarded. It deals with a sacred subject. It means that, in view of the great and honorable services which a soidler or sailor of the recent war performed, the tax-payers shall see that at his death he has decent burial, if he has not left sufficient means for this purpose, or if his surviving family is indigent so that it would be distressed by the expense. And very properly the law provides for the most careful serutiny before this shall take place. THE MERIT SYSTEM UNDER TWO ADMINISTRATIONS.

the 23d of last month the Senate adopted a resolution directing the civil service commission to investigate certain supposed violations of the civil service law and rule since March 4, 1889, by executive officers whose appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate. The report of the commission is before the country, and, if it shows nothing else, it certainly does show how hard it is to bind a determined and inveterate spoilsman even by the plain terms of a law, and how necessary it is for civil service reformers to maintain a never-sleeping vigilance.

It is however, encouraging to know that the infamous system of political assessments is gradually dying out. Though there have undoubtedly been many "voluntary contributions," yet as the commission says there has been but one case of political assessment coming clearly within the scope of the resolution. That case was in the internal revenue service in Kentucky, and five men were indicted, tried and convicted. A new trial has been granted to two of the defendants.

There is some interesting information in regard to several of the campaign clubs. organized among the subordinates in the departments at Washington. One of these clubs was known as the Ohio Republican Club. Commissioners Roosevelt and Thompson investigated its performances in 1890. Mr. Daniel A. If the county commissioners would examne a map they would find that the city of Indianapolis is part of Marion county; if they would condescend to examine the taxduplicates they would also find that Indianapolis pays more than nine-tenths of the county taxes. Having made these two disoveries, the commissioners, if capable of logical processes, may reach the conclusion that money expended in Indianapolis for proper public purposes and improvements, in which all the people of the county are interested, is expended for county purposes.

MR. WATTERSON says that the way to reform the tariff is to simplify it. And occasionally the inspirations of the star-eyed coddess are all right.

We note with satisfaction the clause put into the paving, sweeping and sprinkli contracts by the Board of Public Works, by which a contractor is to notify each person liable for assessments when the assess due, the amount of the same and when payable; also to what date the provisions of the Barrett law may be applied, and how. It was only a lew days ago that some one wrote to THE NEWS complaining of the present condition, in which tax-payers receive no notice of these special taxes. THE News approved this complaint, and suggested a remedy. Then followed communications from others in urgency of the change. And at once we have the Board of Public Works adopting the suggestion, and the whole matter in the way of being ended. There is good suggestion in this for us all. We can not help thinking that the Western Democrat who made $68,000 in sugar had something to do with the delay. PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—The battleship Indiana, which left the Cramps shippard in Philadelphia Wednesday morning, dropped anchor off the breakwater late yesterday afternoon, after a most successful preliminary trial. She will be back at her dock in Philadelphia to-day. Early yesterday morning the ship was put to sea and given a hard run of four hours over the course usually chosen by the Cramps for their builders' trials. This course is off the five-fathoms bank, extending between the southwest and northeast lightships, the distance being 9.65 knots. Three trips were made over this course. The first, under natural draft was accomplished at 14.1 knots. The second under half-forced draft in a trifle less than 15 knots, and the thirds under forced draft at 15.35 knots. The guranteed speed of the Indiana is 15 knots. The engines, which behaved splendfully received the maximum velocity. splendidly, reached the maximum velocity of 128 revolutions a minute, the average under forced draft being 122. The result of the trip was so far ahead of expectations that Edwin Cramp, who has charge of the ship, gave orders last evening that she should return to the yard instead of taking a run to sea, as is customary with ships on a first triak. Everybody aboard is well pleased with the behavior of the Indiana. The machinery works perfectly. The steamer has no rock, and there is no doubt that she will take her destined place as one of the queens of battleships of the world.

such a sensation in New York. He will at the Festival. His most important number will be Brahms's concerto, a composition of unrivaled force and beauty. Brahms wrote this remarkable production for Dr. Joachim, but it has been heard rarely in public, as its peculiar intri-cacies of technique render it inadmissible to the repertoires of any save the most skillful violinists. Marteau's performances of the concerto in New York are said to place him side by side with Sarasate and Wieniawski. Marteau is now in his twenty-first year and will attain his majortwenty-first year and will attain his majority in April next. He began the study of the violin at five, and made his first successful public appearance at ten in Rheims, his native town. Since that time some of the foremost of modern composers—Gounod, Massenet, Godard and Dubois—have written for him; Gounod wrote his delicate "Le Vision de Jeanne d'Arc"; Dubois, the "Melodie Religeuse," and Bamberg, a reverie. Marteau gave the Gounod number before an immense audience at Rheims in 1886. On attaining his majority, as a French citizen, he will become subject to the military laws of his country, and liable to undergo the usual service for the term of two years, although he may get the benefit of a year's exemption as an artist.

The soirce musicale given by Miss Kitchell Tuesday evening at the Propylaeum, was largely attended. By the brilliancy of her playing, its most marked characteristic, Miss Kitchell is able to make much of even somewhat colorless compositions. The program was well arranged, however, so that the pianist was heard at her best. Mrs. Enrique Miller sang several ballads, and Mr. Armin Recker and Mr. Constantine Riegger played. The evening was one which afforded great pleasure for musical people.

That the May Festival Chorus is capable this year of much higher work than it was last year has already been demonstrated, though comparatively few rehearsals have been held. Excellent foundations had aiready been laid, so that almost from the first the rehearsals this season could be devoted to securing breadth and quality of tone and fine shading. A body of singers more in earnest, and, at times, more enthusiastic, is not often seen. It is not difficult to trace the progress made from one reheatsal to the next. With the greatest care and attention each part of every work is tried separately over and over again. The result is finished and beautiful singing. A long step has been taken by the chorus this year toward the high standard set by its rear toward the high standard set by its Entirely unknown, they appeared in Cincinnati a few weeks ago, and at their second appearance drew an audience of nearly 6,000 people. Josef Hofmann, the "boy pianist," whose performances in this country were stopped six years ago by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, is old enough now to defy all societies, and is said to have developed into a wonderful artist. He has been studying in retirement since his return home, but is now preparing to appear in public again. His first engagement will be in London, beginning in May, and it is said that arrangements are in progress looking to an American tour next season under his old managers, Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau.

Dr. Joachim lately made his first appearance in London this season at the Popular concerts, and was received with the warmth invariably shown to him. It is within a few weeks of half a century since Joachim, then a boy of twelve, made his first bow to London at Drury Lane. He was then unanimously considered an extremely clever boy, but it was not until the fifties that his enormous powers came to be fully recognized, for after his debut in England he continued for many years at Leipsic playing by his master David's side at the first violin desk of the Gewandhaus concerts. But since 1862 his visits to London have been annual, and his position undisputed.

Patti's present four is the longest she has ever undertaken in this country. It began November 18, and will last until March 22. On March 24 she will leave for Europe. She has accepted the offer to sing in Paris May 3 in Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," which is to be given at the Grand Opera House, and is to be a performance in honor of the great composer. She has sung to more people this season than ever before. The closing concerts of her career in America will be as follows: Washington, March 13; Philadelphia, March 20, and New York, March 16, on which occasion she will sing the new opera, composed for her by Emilio Plzzi, called "Gabriella." SETH GRIFFIN, OF NEW YORK, TO HAVE CHARGE OF THE TRACK.

Bright Indications For the September Stakes - The Question of Dates-Ontonian Comes To Indiana-Whirlpool Sold-Horse Notes.

The Indianapolis Driving Club is making preparations to have the best track in the country this year. The particular preparation was securing the services of Seth Griffin, of New York, who is regarded as the most expert track-builder and superintendent in the country. He has built most of the fast tracks, including the one at Nashville, which is constantly worked under his supervision. Mr. Griffin will arrive here about the last of the month and examine the track and begin the preparatory work. He will not remain here, but will make visits at regular intervals, and see that his directions have been carried out. Last year and the year before he supervised the care of half a dozen tracks, and it is a matter of track history that every track was fast. Nashville and Chillicothe were particularly fast.

The Driving Club expects several hundred horses to be trained on the track this spring. Because of this expectation, the services of Griffin have been secured, in order that for early training drivers may have a good track. Two weeks before each meeting this summer Griffin will come to the track and remain until the meetings are

SEPTEMBER STAKES FILLING. The indications are that the stakes offered by the Driving Club for its fall meeting will be filled by the date of closing, April 1. Already nominations have been received for every stake, and for some there have been enough to insure their filling. Last week the situation was not so bright. Secretary Watson, of the Western-Southern circuit, notified the Driving Club that Chicago, which had dates in August, two weeks before the Indianapolis meeting, had changed its claims to the week of Septem-ber 25. This would force the Driving ber 25. This would force the Driving Club meeting into August and divert the horses that would be at Terre Haute the week before the State Fair from this city to Chicago. The club sent telegrams to every other member of the circuit saying that if the dates were changed to suit Chicago's whim, Indianapolis would leave the circuit and give an independent meeting regardless of the dates of any one else. The next day Secretary Watson notified the Driving Club that Chicago had decided to leave its dates as they were fixed by the circuit meeting. as they were fixed by the circuit meeting. If Chicago had insisted on changing its dates, the Driving Club would have held only one meeting this year, in the middle of August, and $50,000 in stakes and purses would have been offered.

ONTONIAN COMES TO INDIANA. The fastest descendant of George Wilkes, nd of course the fastest of the Wilkes family, is Roy Wilkes, 2:061/4. Second honors are held by two horses, Ontonian and Will Kerr, 2:071/2. Will Kerr is owned in Indianapolis, and it is believed will be the fastest of the Wilkes family after the coming season, if not the fastest pacer in the world. He has a rival in Ontonian, however. The bay son of Shadeland Onward has made the rivalry more intense by ward has made the rivary more intense by changing his home from Iowa to Indiana. Last week the deal by which he was purchased by Joseph H. Lesh, of the Lesh stockfarm, Goshen, Ind., was completed, and Ontonian is now on Indiana soil. Ontonian although only four years old (though his age is not positive many saying that he is although only four years old (though his age is not positive, many saying that he is five years old), divides with Hal Pointer the honor of the fastest fourth-heat record, 2:07%. He is a half-brother to Online, (2), 2:11, and Belle Acton, (1), 2:20%. Although hurt in shipping last season, made his record at Lyons, Neb., late in the fall. The validity of the performance was questioned at the time and Secretary Steiner investigated it. He held that it was regular, and ought to stand, and is so credited on the year book. With Ontonian, Princeton, Ethan Wilkes, Hambrino and the score of other famous horses, Indiana will be enviable in their possession.

SUPREME COURT.

Abstracts of Cases Decided Wednesday, March 7, 1894.

TRANSCRIPT-MARGINAL NOTES-DISMISSAL 17,116. Robert J. Smith et al. vs. State ex-rel. Maxwell C. Hamill, prosecuting attorney. Vigo C. C. Motion to dismiss overruled. Howard, C. J.

The failure to place marginal notes in approriate places in the transcript, in violation of rule 31 of the Supreme Court, is a sufficient ground for dismissal, but, as the appellant in this case has asked and obtained leave to supply the notes after the motion was filed and the notes having been made in compliance with the rule to the satisfaction of the court, the motion is overruled.

The former opinion is adhered to except as to the statement that a motion to strike out a part of a deposition could not be carried into the record by a general bill of exceptions filed pursuant to leave granted at a subsequent term of the court. The record, however, fails to show a ruling on the motion to strike out, or an exception to such ruling.

When a party serves notice to take depositions under Section 452, it is his duty to use due diligence to see that the witnesses are present at the time and place designated for the taking, and not wait until the day of taking only to find that the presence of the witness can not be procured, and if he does not use such diligence, the costs should be taxed against him, as provided by such section.

ASSAULT—POINTING UNLOADED PISTOL.

1,152. Jacob Klein vs. State of Indiana Jefferson C. C. Reversed. Reinhard, J. To constitute an assault there must not only be an attempt to commit an injury, but a present ability to do the injury. The pointing of a pistol across the street at another is not an assault if the pistol is unloaded.

Such concealment as will prevent the running of the statute of limitations is more than mere silence or general declarations on the part of the person liable. It has re erence to something of an affirmative nature, something said or done, some trick or artifice. Where the board of county commissioners could have discovered the cause of action by examination of a county treasurer's book there is not such concealment as the statute contemplates.

The city of Indianapolis, to meet the crying demand for "work for the unemployed," offered jobs at stone-breaking to all who would take them, but nobody was hurt in the rush.—[Philadelphia Ledger. Indianapolis's new Democratic postmas Indianapolis's new Democratic Postmaster is indulging in some rather noisy protestations of admiration for civil service reform. It might be just as well for him to wait a while and allow the public to judge by his acts.—[Washington Post. Congressman Bynum says he would have no hesitation in going before the country on the income-tax issue. But there will be no such issue. The Republicans will be afraid to make it. They know too well how the vote would stand on it.—[New York-World.

Indiana Republicans have devised a scheme of organization which takes in every school district from Lake Michigan to the Ohio river, and which will bring out every vote in the commonwealth. The Indiana model is an excellent one for Illinois to copy.—[Chicago Mail.

A favorite ampsement of a lot of vandels.

A favorite amusement of a lot of vandals in Indiana is to kill fish by the explosion of dynamite. Many of the finest fishing streams have had the fish almost entirely

What She Thought About Nerves.

"I was so confined to the house that I could not go out evenings at all to any amusement, but now can go when I please. When I commenced the medicine I weighed 96 pounds and now have got back to 132 pound. I coughed and wheezed so that I would almost fall down. "Nobody could suffer any more than I did, but now my asthma and nervousness are entirely cured and the medicine that did it was Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy., I eat and sleep well and do my house work as comfortably as ever. I heartily recommend the Nervura to all. It is the most wonderful medicine I have ever found."

There are thousand of women suffering just as Mrs. Griffith was. They are so nervous they can not control themselves; they have no power to throw off that terrible downhearted, discontented feeling, and many feel as though they would go insane. Are you afflicted in this way? If so, you will surely be cured by using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is the most wonderful medi-cine in the world to cure disease, and it is just what you want.

The spring is always the best time to take this medicine. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consuited free of charge, personally, or by letter, at his office, 35 West 14th street, New York

Indianapoles, Ind. Corn and Oats Less Active and Easier -Provisions Quiet and About Steady - Other Market News-Local Prices.

Wheat was active all morning at Chicago. There was little news to influence prices decidedly either way. Clearances were very fair, and cables were about steady. A selling assault was well withstood, and prices closed about 1/c lower, with trading dull. Corn and cats cased of somewhat. Provisions were quiet and about steady.

Indianapolis Wholesale Markets. The wholesalers are becoming cheeringly unanimous in speaking of a very fair trade. Last week the bright weather created a stir and more activity than for several weeks. It was the first relief from the monotonous report of duliness. Merchants were adjusting themselves to the usual relapse this week, but trade except to be keeping in to about the themselves to the usual relapse this week, but trade seems to be keeping up to about the same level. It can not be called as good as for the same time last year, but it is enough better than the weeks immediately preceding to cause some relief. One grocer notes that the volume of his business is as great as in last March, but low prices make the cash fig-ures smaller.

A continued briskness in trade in groceries, A continued briskness in trade in groceries, dry goods, hardware and druggists' supplies. Expectations are not great, but the beginning of the spring that was looked to as a time for recuperation seems to be at hand. The general markets are steadier, and though they do not show much disposition to advance, the declining tendency which many feared was to continue somewhat indefinitely has been found not to stimulate business greatly. Buyers persist in purchasin, for present needs or for inture needs, pretty well assured. The expansion of these needs, it appears, from the character of orders received, is what causes greater demand for goods.

Mudiv country roads seem to be checking the movement of eggs, receipts of which are growing lighter at this and other points. The market is firmer, and an advance is noted. Poultry is quiet. Butter continues weak. The sugar market is reported firm and refiners are said to be oversold. Prices continue unchanged and local values have been station-ary for a number of days. Reasted coffees continue the prolonged steadiness on a firm basis as far as the prices green coffees are concerned.

CLEVELAND, O., March 8 .- The Iron Trade CLEVELAND, O., March 8.—The Iron Trade Review says: It can not be said that the open-ing week in March has brought any encour-agement to the fin trade. Quietness prevails at centers usually most active. The reaction from the spurt of a few weeks ago, that gave rise to so many predictions of betterment, has been complete, and there is evidence beside that prices have slipped below the point maintained previous to the advance. If the buying of the past week were taken as a criterion it would be said that the drift was backward, for from every pig iron market was backward, for from every pig iron market in the country the report comes of limited transactions and a disposition to wait and feel the way. Pig iron stocks accumulated somewhat in February and on ioundry and forge grades—at least the tendency is still in that direction. Opinions differ as to the effect of the low prices of ore outside the soft steel market, but it is apparent that the new basis will at least draw the line more closely on Southern irons, and favoring freights will not cut so large a figure in marketing the product of that section. was backward, for from every pig iron market

Another conference was held this morning. Dr. Hays said that the city would be willing to bear half the cost if the commissioners would bear the other half. This would make the commissioners pay about $2,500. President Hunter said that the county ought to assist and that he would favor the last proposition to pay half. Another conference will be held and the details probably effected.

NECESSITY OF RELIEF WORK

THE COMMITTEE SAYS IT IS NOT YET PASSED.

More Money Must Be Raised if the Food Market Continues - What the Township Has Done-City Work in Progress.

Unless the Commercial Club relief committee succeeds in collecting funds for operating the food market, the place will soon close down. The committee has no money at present with which to meet the expenses of the market. A committee was appointed some time ago to again canvass the city for funds, but so far there have been no volunteers to gather in the subscriptions, and the amount that has been received recently is meager. There is about $3,500 outstanding from the first canvass, which was made early in the winter, and about $2,500 of the amount, it is thought, may be collected.

The food market was opened December

31. Since then the relief committee has been providing food for about 1,100 families, or 4,400 people a week. This has been done at a cost of about $1,500 or $1,600 a week. The amount needed to continue the work is $8,000 or $10,000. The committee has paid the expenses of the market up to last Tuesday night, and funds for future use, if there is to be a future to the relief work, will have to be forthcoming at once. At the food market the managers say that to close the place now would cause suffering among the poor. The 4,400 people have to be fed just as they did all through the winter. Little work is found which will allow a laborer to become independent of the food market. It is not expected at the relief store that sufficient spring work will open for some weeks, and if the relief committee can not obtain the funds for the market, it says the eare of the poor will become a serithe expenses of the market up to last Tuescan not obtain the funds for the market, it says the care of the poor will become a serious question. The relief that has been distributed by the committee has been only temporary, so that those aided by the market are in no better condition to provide for themselves now, should the market close, than they would have been during the severe weather. The committee has expended about $13,000. To end its work now, it says, would be to overwhelm the now, it says, would be to overwhelm the Charity Organization Society with applica-tions that it could not take care of.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE'S RELIEF.

Increase This Winter Over Last In Expenditures—Four Months' Totals. The township trustee says that the greater part of the relief work this winter was done by the relief committee and other charity organizations. At the beginning of the winter the trustee was asked by the re-lief committee to help only those who were unable to work. Families that have had a member capable of doing hard work have been referred to the relief committee for

In spite of this outside help the expenses of the trustee's office have been in excess of the sum spent last winter. The following record shows the amount of relief given during each month of this winter and during the same months last year:

CHARITY ORGANIZATION SOCIETY. Secretary Grout Tells What Has Beer Done and What May Be Expected.

The Charity Organization Society, with headquarters in Plymouth church, has been helping only widows and sick persons since the food market was established. Grout says that he is unable to state how many people have been helped this winter, but that in the month of February 1,901 people were relieved at a cost of $2,000. He says that in previous winters the society has received about forty applications for help a week. but that this winter before the starting of the food market the applications ranged from sixty to seventy-five a day. Up to the time that the food market 2,040 families had been relieved by the society, and the society is now carrying from 100 to 150 families each week. Mr. Grout thinks that the times are easier now than they have been, but if the food market were to stop its work many cases that are now cared for there would fall back upon the ordinary chan-nels of relief, which are really not able to cope with them. THE CITY CONTRACTS IN FORCE. Work On Sewers and Prospects For the Season Reviewed, The number of idle men in the county building has diminished. Some of then have found work in sewers, and a few have gone to the country, where farm work is beginning. The greater number are still unemployed, but congregate out of doors now that the weather is milder.

The city authorities, who have been in frequent conference with representatives of the unemployed since the winter began, are hopeful that the work on the city contracts now let will solve the question of labor for the idle. An examination of the records of the Board of Public Works shows the folvalue of the contracts: SEWERS NOW BUILDING

CITY MONEY FOR LABOR. Condition of Street Funds and the Probability of More Work.

The city street commissioner is now limited to an expenditure of $300 a week for street cleaning. He had employed to-day nineteen teams at $3 each —ten of them at work finding bottom at the hay market. He hires four foremen at $2 each; eight men in the bridge gang at $1.85 each, and two foremen at $3 each.
There was also a sewer gang of four men and one team. All of these men worked eight hours a day. At the city stone pile

The street commissioner's pay-roll and

The street commissioner's pay-roll and the public contracts are the sources of public employment for day labor. The street commissioner says that he will hope for more money after April 1, when the new taxes will be available.

The condition of the street-cleaning funds was ascertained in the controller's office. At the beginning of the fiscal year there was an appropriation of $40,000. There was an old balance of $5,000 from last year's appropriation, credited to this fund, but there was no money in the treasury, and the balance was not available. In the four weeks preceding the election, the late Democratic administration expended $12,711.23 of the year's appropriation of $40,000, of the year's appropriation of $40,000, leaving $27,000 for the remaining forty-eight weeks. Since the present administration took office the total avalable balance has took office the total avalable balance has been reduced to $20,434 including the $5,000 "left over" from last year. Deducting this the city will have $15,000 with which to clean streets during the remaining six months of the fiscal year. This is an average of about $600 a week. In preceding years during warm weather the weekly expense in this department has been about $1,000 to $1,500. The weekly expenditures in this department in January and February have exceeded the averages for three months in previous years.

The street commissioner was asked if city money could not be made to go further if he were to reduce the pay for teams to $2 and the pay for men to $1 a day. He thought this would not do, first, because it would be "ruinous" (personally in a political sense), and, second, because it would set a precedent for contractors, who would take advantage of the opportunity to squeeze down wages. He said he could probably get teams at $2 until work opened more generally, but as a rule a good team was not to be had at that price.

The Mayor said he was willing to review the whole subject and see if more money—some, perhaps, from the proceeds of the late bond sale, and some from new amounts collected on decedents' estates, might not be applied to some substantial relief work. The County Commissioners

The county commissioners have ordered no public work, and say they will have little to order this spring, except the work necessary on the county roads. Efforts to have them cut down the court-house grounds have failed. Meeting of Unemployed. The unemployed have arranged a new

There has been no understanding reached as to how the city shall enter the litigation. It is understood there will soon be a consultation between the city attorney, John M. Butler, who will be the special counsel of the city in the case, and the attorneys for the City Railway Company, Messrs. Elliott & Elliott and Addison C. Harris, for the purpose of deciding what course the city had best pursue. The original intention of the city was to ask to be made a party to the suit of the Citizens' company against the City company, but it is said the attorneys for the City company prefer that Mr. Butler prosecute an independent action for the city. suit.

Build Here.

A syndicate of Chicago and New York capitalists, incorporated in Illinois as the Enterprise Improvement Association, has had representatives here since Tuesday examining property for building purposes. The representatives, J. H. Barabee, M. S. Evinger and Messrs. Howard & M. S. Evinger and Messrs. Howard & Wisely, secured an option on the Stechhan property at Alabama and Washington streets for $82,500, and will close the deal next week. Mr. Evinger says that the syndicate will build a twelve-story building of red pressed brick, with stone trimming, sixty feet front on Washington street and 140 on Alabama. It will be an office building exclusively, and will have four elevators operating in a central area. The structure of the building will be largely of steel, and will be fire-proof. In each suite of rooms there will be a vault. Mr. Evinger says that it will cost $250,000. He also says that the syndicate has secured property for similar purposes at Terre Haute and Ft. Wayne.

THE WILY BUNKO MAN. He Got $52 From Isaac Baker, of West Virginia, at the Union Station.

Isaac Baker, who said he was from West Virginia, en route to Carthage, Ill., was met by a confidence man in the Union station this morning. It was the old, old story. Mr. Baker, of West Virginia, kindly loaned "Mr. Mason" $52 for a few minutes until he paid a freight bill and got a check cashed. General Ticket Agent Donough told Baker that he was swindled and Mr. Baker was much distressed when he realized that he was a stranger in a strange town without a cent of money. The police say the swind-lers were part of the Evansville gang. They blame the Union station police for allowing the bunko men to escape.

BALL PLAYERS ARRIVING.

Manager Sharsig and Three of Hg Men Here-sharsig's Opinion.

Manager Sharsig, who will pilot the Inds anapolis base-ball team during the season of 1894, came to the city yesterday after noon. As he stepped off the train he remarked to "Billy" Harrington, who met him, "No, we shall not be 'rain-makers." I do not expect to have a single postpor game of the first series at home. ? weather will be fine."

weather will be fine."

Mr. Sharsig, to all practical, immediate ends, brought his hall club in his pocket. He sent word to President Golt. who soon joined him at the Grand Hotel. He outlined his plans to Mr. Golt. who approved them, and notified Sharsig that he would be expected to represent the club on the schedule committee, which will meet at Milwaukee March 15. Under the agreement at Chicago Indianapolis will be at home July 4 and Labor Day.

Mr. Sharsig says he has a team that is as complete as it can be made. "It is not a team that will go right out and defeat the Leaguers," he said, "but it will keep up its end in the Western League. The team is well-balanced. There are no weak spots. We shall get into practice as soon as the weather will permit, and when the time comes to meet the clubs of the big League we shall be in good shape."

With Manager Sharsig came first baseman Plock, catcher Snyder and third baseman Graham. Plock is six feet two inches tall and weighs 190 pounds.

The star battery of the club will be Phillips and Westlake. Manager Sharsig regards Phillips as one of the best pitchers in the country, and with Westlake to support him, it is believed that the predictions of phenomenal success for Phillips will be secure. Phillips pitched for Chattanoors in 1892. Last year he played with Johnstown, Pa, and so good was his work that Arthur Irwin, manager of the Philadelphia league team, was after his services. Westlake has a record that is remarkable. Last year he caught every exhibition and championship game of the club with which he played. Besides being a good catcher he is a good batter and baserunner. In this respect Manager Sharsig says the team is strong. He says that every member of it has a reputation for co-operating at personal sacrifice in order to secure runs and it is this kind of a team that wins in the long run.

runs and it is this kind of a team that wins in the long run.

The exhibition games arranged for the club are as follows: April 6, 7, 8, Indianapolis at Louisville; April 9 and 10, Cincinnati at Indianapolis; April 11 and 12, Minneapolis at Indianapolis; April 13, 14 and 15, Indianapolis at Cincinnati; April 16 and 17, Pittsburg at Indianapolis; April 18, Louisville at Indianapolis; April 20 and 23, Chicago at Indianapolis, April 20 and 23, Chicago at Indianapolis.

If the arrangement can be made, the Fourth of July date will be changed for Decoration Day date, as the Driving Club races occur the week of July 4. The Western League season will probably open about May 1, but not carlier than April 25, Many of the members of the League, profiting by the experience of 1892, do not believe in starting the season with a dozen or more postponed games, and want to open when there is a probable certainty of good weather.

"This request," he says, "should be made general, not only in behalf of the 450,000 comrades of the G. A. R., as well as an equal number of ex-soldiers and sailors not members, but all survivors and comrades of those who stood in defense of national integrity and the perpetuity of free institutions which nake our country great and free." The contest for department commander in the New York Encampment that met at Rochester last week was as hotly contested as usual, lasting during an entire afternoon, lting in the election of John C. Shotts, of Yonkers, by a vote of 370 to 337, for Joseph W. Kay, of Brooklyn, who has been a prominent candidate for the position at the last four encampments.

The mayor of Brooklyn vetoed an ordinance passed by the aldermen appropriating $75 to fire three salutes in various sections of that city on Washington's birthday, whereupon Stephenson Post, G. A. R., took up the question and fired 100 guns from Ff. Greene at its own expense.

The Horace Greeley statue committee has decided to unveil the Greeley statue on Memorial Day. It will be erected in the triangular park at the junction of Broadway, Sixth avenue and Thirty-second street, and as this locality has no special name a request will be made to the Board of Aldermen to name it "Greeley Square."

The Commissioner of Pensions has revoked the order preventing employes in the Pension Office from attesting the signatures to vouchers of pensioners when presented in person. The order delayed payments and put pensioners to great inconvenience, hence the protestation that restored the old order.

In a recent address before the department

In a recent address before the department

In a recent address before the department recampment of the Department of the Potomac, at Washington, Commander-in-chief Adams dwelt upon the lesson in patriotism that it was incumbent upon the Grand Army to teach, of which the chief was loyalty to the flag. The veterans would soon full out, and the sons would take their places. They should teach the doctrine that no flag but the flag of the Union could be allowed to loat from any staff within our borders.

The Army Register gives the full strength of the National Guard as follows: New York, 12,995 men and officers; Pennsylvania, 8,509; Ohio, 5,825; South Carolina, 5,805; Illinois, 4,000; Lalifornia, 4,000; Massachusetts, 5,000; Indiana has forty-eight companies, aggregating 2,600 officers and men. The full guard force, including officers and men, is shown to be 112,496.

Notwithstanding the fact that the national organization of the G. A. R. declined to accept the deed for the site upon which the Andersonville prison was situated, for the reason that it eld not desire to perpetuate its memory, between two and three hundred veterans from the North visit the spot each year. The land is still the property of the Department of Georgia, but the project for improving the place has been abandoned.

The National Cemetery is situated about

The abandonment of the care of the Mt. McGregor cottage where General Grant died, by the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, has caused much unfavorable criticism, especially in the Eastern States, and notably in New York. The question was brought to the attention of the New York department which recently met at Rochester, and some decided action will be taken soon. The sustodian is the only considerable expense. It is thought that there are many veterans in receipt of comfortable pensions who would be glad to end their days as the custodian of the house where General Grant died, without much compensation. A retired officer of the regular army might be found who would perhaps accept the position. The room where General Grant died much the house is kept just as he left it. The place is visited by thousands of people every year.

Every department encampment held up to date reports the largest attendance for several years, and general surprise is expressed at the small loss of membership reported. Many resolutions reported and adopted by the various encampments declare pensions to be a vested right and say the law directs in what manner and under what circumstances that right may be suspended or the payment of a pension requiring thirty days' notice to the pensioner and a full hearing before payment is stopped be enforced.

The State of Illinois has placed in the old hall of the House of Representatives at Washington, known as 'Statuary Hall.' a statue of Gen. James A. Shields as a companion to that of Abraham Lincoln. General Shleids served in the Mexican as well as the civil war, was Governor of Oregon and represented two States in the United States Senate.

The New Hampshire department encampment was held at Concord last week. The report of the assistant adjutant-general showed a membership of 5,340—a not lass of only fifty-three members. Commander-in-Chief Adams was present, and was welcomed by Governor Smith on behalf of the State. David R. Pearce was elected department commander.

The Department of Connecticut held its encampment at Hartford during last week. The report of the assistant adjutant-general gave the present membership of this department as 6,704. Tha loss of members during the past year was 161. The department has a fund of $3,150, a gain of $405, and property valued at $493. The total value of post property is $154,080, consisting of post funds, $26,543; relief funds, $54,793; post property, $33,544; real estate, $39,195. The sum of $7,981 was expended for relief during the year. The decision of the judge-advocate was given that the grave of a man who served in the army, and received an honorable discharge, but who afterward committed a murder and died while serving in the State prison for that crime, may be decorated on Memorial Day. Commander-in-Chief Adams and a portion of his staff were present. Selah G. Beckman was elected commander.

The department commander of Nebraska approves the resolutions recently adopted by the Lafayette Post, of New York, declaring for the supremacy of the national flag. Candidates for commander of the Department of Ohio are multiplying. The latest announcements are Capt. E. E. Nutt, of Sidney; Maj. Charles Townsend, of Athens, and Capt oldiers to membership.

The E. F. Noyes Post of Cincinnati has ecceptly finished the finest hall in the West, and will remove into it at an early date. The members of this post, accompanied by their wives and daughters, will visit Dayton March 15, where they will be the guests of the "Old Guard Post" of that city.

Commander-in-Chief Adams has approved the recommendation of the department encampment of New York, "that military instruction be made a part of the common school system, to the end that the young of our land receive preliminary training." He says:

The United States maintains only a small standing army and leaves the desense of the country in case of war to rest upon hasty levies of volunteers. The rapidity with which wars progress in modern times has rendered the time available for the instruction of such levies to a very brief period; the organized army, even including the National Guard and militia, is of insignificant proportions when put in contrast with the armies of the other great powers of the world, and our strength is to be found in the instructed young of the land, who may come to its defense in time of peril.

It is not generally known to what extent

It is not generally known to what extent the Southern States pension and care for their veterans of the civil war. All these States either pension or provide homes for their needy soldiers. Georgia heads the list, having paid last year $445,000 to 7,400 pensioners; of this $185,000 was paid to ,200 veterans and $260,000 to 4,200 widows. The State has a soldiers' home, situated on a large tract of land and built by private subscription at a cost of $42,000, but it is closed for lack of funds. Alabama comes closed for lack of funds. Alabama comes next, with 4,955 pensioners, who received last year $133,124.32. It has no home. North Carolina has 4,474 pensioners, who receive $103,000 and has a soldiers' home with fifty inmates, costing about $15,000 per annum to maintain. Virginia has 3,450 pensioners, and pays $99,205, and a home with 181 inmates, costing $15,220. South Carolina has 2,249 pensioners, who receive $50,000, but has no home. Mississirpi has 2,000 pensioners, who receive $62,400, but 2,000 pensioners, who receive $62,400, but no soldiers' home. Arkansas has 787 pensioners receiving $31,375, and a home with twenty inmates. Florida has 374 pensioners, who receive $37,841. It has a home costing $10,000, but not now open. Louisiana has no pensioners, but has a home with fifty inmates, costing $8,000 a year. Tennessee has 576 pensioners receiving $61,875, and 108 inmates of a home costing $32,000, which costs $25,000 to maintain. which costs $7,500 to maintain. Texas has which costs $7,000 to maintain. Pexas has no pensioners, but maintains a home with 108 inmates at a cost of $57,585. Maryland and Missouri each have a home with less than 100 inmates, which cost about $12,000 a year each. This makes a total of 27,211. A recent letter from the wife of Corporal Tanner, who, it will be remembered, recently submitted to a second operation on both his legs, says that for some days after the operation the improvement of her husband was marvelous, but he had a temporary relapse, and at the time of writing was suffering more than at any other time since the operation. She feels, however, that he is on the road to recovery, and the doctors say that when he does recover he will be freer from pain than at any time during the last thirty years. The corporal is atill confined at the Seeny Hospital, Brooklyn, where the operation was performed.

The Iowa State Legislature has revived the proposition to build a soldiers' monument at Des Moines. One hundred and sixty thousand dollars was appropriated by successive Legislatures. A few years ago, a commission was appointed and instructed to prepare a site and foundation on the capitol grounds "for the purpose of perpetuating an expression on the part of the people of the State of Iowa, of their appreciation of the patriotism, courage and distinguished soldierly bearing of their fellow citizens, as manifested during the recent war of the Rebellion. The new State House grounds at that time were not graded, and grounds at that time were not graded, and as the kind and style of the monument had not been determined upon, no action was taken by the commission, and the matter was suffered to rest until a design by Mrs. Harriet A. Ketcham, was accepted out of forty-eight presented. Since that time the personnel of the commission has changed, and now the veterans are looking after the matter and demanding that something be done. An investigation develops the fact that the original design has almost entirely disappeared, and a design pregrounds at that time were not graded, and

There is some objection to this change, and the present Legislature has been asked to interfere and require the monument to be put in its original position.

this change, and the present Legislature has been asked to interfere and require the monument to be put in its original position upon the present magnificent capitol grounds. In any event it is reasonably sure that Iowa will begin the work of building the monument at an early day.

The following paragraph from the last general order of the Department of Washington and Alaska, will be of interest to every G. A. R. comrade in the land:

The post-room is the only club-house the average veteran can alford. The time that he will enjoy its benefits will not be long. Let, then, every effort be made to make it pleasant and the meetings interesting, and continues by advising the "boys" to keen the camp-fire burning. That is practical Grand Army talk.

A unique, interesting and successful en-

A unique, interesting and successful entertainment was recently given by the Sumner Relief Corps, of Sacramento, Cal., known as the "Living Game of Whist." The entertainment opened with the Infanta march, by thirty-two little girls, eight in white, eight in red and eight in pale blue. The march is new and beautitul, and the effect under the changing lights was charming, the fanciful groups enhancing the scenic effects.

"Living Whist" followed, introducing the costumes of the kings, queens and knaves of the playing cards, while the hearts, diamonds, spades and clubs were marked upon the shoulders or sashes of the wearers.

The game was preceded by a march, followed by the shuffle, the cut and the selection of the hands. The thirteen tricks were then played, each player advancing a card representative to the center of the hall, and these four executing a dance. These were Spanish York, Harford gavotte, waitz minuet, Aurora waltz, stately minuet, caper, bonton gavotte, trovata, Oxford minuet, assembly gavotte, tiptoe schottische, Badger gavotte, the latter preceded by a Spanish castinet dance, and finally the academy waltz.

The father is an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind., and the daughter was with relatives at Rushville. The attention of Mrs. Conklin, department president, was called to the case. She placed the girl under the care of Dr. C. L. C. can lawfully assist the needy who are not ex-soldiers, or members of their families, says: "First, it is our sacred duty to render all needed assistance to the Union veteran and his dependent ones; for this we are banded together, and 'charity should always begin at home.' This duty fully discharged, the claims of humanity are still upon us, and when we are able to assist others in need, it is not only our privilege but our duty to do so. Money expended in this way should be taken from the general corps fund, and can not be reported as relief expended, but must be reported as disbarsements from the general fund. The principles of humanity upon which our order is based admonishes us that we should render to our fellow-creatures aid in their misfortunes and comfort in their distress. BRAZIL'S NEW PRESIDENT.

That His Election Means

the election in Brazil indicate that Senhor Prudente Moraes has been chosen President by an overwhelming majority, although it will probably be a month or more before official returns are received from the twenty States, owing to the vast extent of the tion by railroad or telegraph, and the general disorder which prevails. now President of the Senate. He is wealthy, and lives on his large coffee plantation at Campenas, in the State of Sao Paulo. Even during the empire he was known as an ardent republican, so that his election is a distinct blow to any hopes which the royalist element may have entertained of the restoration of the former order of things. He will not assume the presidential office until November 15, but it is thought that his success means the speedy restoration of peace. His election indicates the untruthfulness of the most serious charge brought against President Peixoto by the insurgents, namely, that he intended extending his term of office beyond the constitutional limit by the power of the army. The rebels, deprived of their chief excuse for prolonging the war, discouraged by their failure during eight months of desultory fighting to win any success of importance, and failing to receive recognition from any foreign power, will probably soon give up the struggle and make the best terms they can with the new administration.

PASTOR KNEIPP, WHO HAS MADE MANY WONDERFUL CURES.

A Bavarian Doctor Who Has Patients of Every Grade-Peculiarities of His Treatment-some Noted Cases He Has Had.

An interesting dispatch was that which came from Rome the other day to the effect that Pope Leo had held a consultation with Pastor Kneipp, the Bavarian priest doctor, who had gone to Rome at the express invi-tation of the supreme pontiff. The Pope explained to the Bavarian "wonder doctor," as he is called, the state of his health and spoke particularly of the intestinal troubles from which he suffers. Father Kneipp, it is said, assured his holiness that the ailments were not serious, and predicted for him several more years of life. He advised the holy father to try cold water bathing, and by his order Father Kneipp has just made his first trial of the treatment.

Pastor Kneipp has been for several years Pastor Kneipp has been for several years very well known in Bavaria, where he is priest of the village of Woerishofen, and he enjoys the reputation, says the New York Herald, of having effected some maryelous cures. He began first treating poor peasants of the villages and mountains round about his parish, and later fashionable people from all parts of the world went to him and found relief which they could not get elsewhere. could not get elsewhere.

SOME OF HIS PECULIARITIES. He had been called a "wonder" or miracle doctor, but he differs from most members of the class by refusing to take any payment for the advice he gives to the thousands of patients who visit him. Whatever honorarium he receives is spent by him for the benefit of schools and churches and for objects of charity. Of late the small village of Woershofen has become one of the best known pilgrim-ge places in all Bavaria. Many descrip ions of the method of treatment which Pastor Kneipp ordains for his patients have been published. His first prescription is a cold bath, and he demands that the patient, instead of drying himself off afterward, must get into his clothes in his wet coudition and either get into bed or take a rapid promenade baretoot up the mountain side or across the meadows. A large contingent of his patients consists of priests of every imaginable type and from every known order, who speak in every language of the world. Among his patients are many members of the upper classes, especially from the aristocracy of Austria and Hungary. The great number, however, are neasants and people from the immediate neighborhood. It is said that Pastor Kneipp receives every day over several hundred patients in his little study, among them many afflicted with consumption and spinal diseases. The reception of his patients occupies him the ensire day, week in and week out, the only interruption being when he goes to perform cold bath, and he demands that the patient, interruption being when he goes to perform his functions in the little church. The small village of Woerishofen is still in a very primitive condition, having only one hotel, and the difficulties of finding accomhotel, and the difficulties of finding accommodations by strangers are very great. Many of the patients bring their own menage with them, especially the aristocratic ones, and the higher clergy are given hospitality in the stately cloister of Dominican nuns, a place famous for the good beer that is brewed there. The poorer pilgrims can find enough to satisfy the necessities of life, for the day at least, at the many booths along the village streets, where they can purchase honey, bathing dresses, Pastor Kneipp cigars, Kneipp linen, Kneipp bread, Kneipp coffee and a large amount of Kneipp literature which has been published about the famous priest doctor.

HIS PERVICES IN DEMAND.

HIS PERVICES IN DEMAND. One can scarcely have an idea how continuously the pastor is in demand in Woer-ishofen. He is scarcely given time enough for his own meals, but the good priest, who is now over seventy years old, is always ready to sacrifice his own comfort for the sake of those who come to him for relief from their earthly ailments. He receives his patients during the morning hours at his own house, and in the afternoon in the cloister, where the crowd which comes by the afternoon trains is always greatest. The entrance hall in front of his consultation room is then packed with a dense mass of people, all pressing forward toward the door. Finally a young man appears with a paper box, mounts a table, bids the men go the left and the women to the right and distributes numbered tickets for the consultation rooms at the price of five pfennigs (about a cent) apiece. The clergy are received first. The consultations do not last long. Pastor Kneipp gives his advice with great brevity, adding occasionally a few chiding remarks about unsuitable clothing, especially to ladies who have the habit of lacing too tightly. Pastor Kneipp is down on garters and all kinds of appliances that tend to check the circulation of the blood. There are always a few regular physicians at the priest's consultations in order to study the system, which tion room is then packed with a dense mass tions in order to study the system, which many of them have taken to other bathing places.

Life in Woerishofen is simple as it is

Life in Woerishofen is simple as it is original. The luxuries of Baden-Baden, Weisbaden and Homburg have not yet made their entry there. The bath-house, with its bathing master and his watering can, is almost taken by storm every day. It has three divisions—one for men, one for the clergy and another for women. The patients disrobe themselves quickly, and they are treated to douches on whatever parts are affected. After this they slip into their clothes again and at once begin their double-quick-time promenade on what is called the Wandelbahn, or across the meadows. Many of the gentler sex patients, who are not accustomed to going barefoot, get their feet very much bruised until they become accustomed to the roads and to avoiding the stony places. By and by, however, the good results follow, and the patients find themselves relieved from their rheumatic and other painful afflictions. This is a very brief description of the primitive method employed by Pastor Kneipp in dealing with suffering humanity.

It will be noticed that some of the quain rules given in the "official circular," as it would be called now, are in force to-day. Car service charges were in force then; none but employes were allowed to ride on the engine, and excessive charges were not permitted. The "regulations for taking sidings" hardly compare with the manner of dispatching trains, the block signals and the automatic gates of to-day.

"If ever they were needed," said the acting superintendent, "they are needed now. Tuesday night we got reports from Irvington, Huseday night we got reports from Irvington, Haughville, Southport and other suburbs telling us of suspicious characters and robberies. If we had mounted men, we could have sent officers at once. We need more patrol boxes also. The mounted men could also do much sanitary inspecting. I know the board is in layor of it. There is a cail for a better enforcement of the law in regard to the closing hours of saloons. The subarb is soon to have rapid transit and the temperance people declare that if saloons are allowed then to do an open Sunday business, as they are charged with doing now, the town will be overrun with sports from the city where the strict enforcement of the law prevents them from enjoying themselves as they would on Sunday.

Brightwood is just beginning to interest itself in the election of new officers in May. The trustees now representing the Third and Fifth wards to out of office this year, and their successors must be elected. The names of Charles Meadows, Republican, and O. Lahn, Democrat, are used in connection with filling the place of Trustee Sites in the Third ward. James Ruark will be a candidate for marshal before the Democratic convention, and J. R. McAdams, the present officer, will ask for re-election.

The Republicans have nominated a candi-ore the convention, and s.r. Ackadams, the present officer, will ask for re-election.

The Republicans have nominated a candidate for justice of the peace, and the Democrats will likely do the same. The suburb has had no justice for many years, and it is given out that the reason there have been comparatively so few arrests in the town is on account of the trouble of taking the cases to the city justices. It is asserted that with a court in the town, and a marshal who will do his duty, some of those who have been accustomed to do about as they like will learn to have greater respect for the law. A fight took place last Sunday afternoon in a drug store, in which chairs and fists were freely used and glass was liberally smashed. No arrests were made, and the citizens who like an orderly Sunday wonder why they elect officers to enforce laws.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS "BEAT-ING THE BUSHES."

No New Aspirants, However, For State Offices-Influence of the A. P. A. in Local Politics-Prohibition Convention.

The Democratic managers have been 'beating the bushes" for more candidates for State offices, but they have not been able to add any new names to the list. During the last few days there has been some talk to the effect that some of the men who had been announced as candidates would not allow their names to go before the convention, but the report has not been verified. Only three or four men are working for places on the ticket. Henry C. Berghoff, of Ft. Wayne, is still a candidate for Treasurer of State, and the understanding seems to be that he will have no opposition. The only man asking for the nomination for Clerk of the Supreme Court is C. L. Wellman, of Sullivan. Andrew M. Sweeney, the present clerk of the court, has been looked upon as a probable candidate for the nomination, but he has not authorized the use of his name. There are two men asking for the nomination for Auditor of State, Joseph T. Fanning, now deputy Auditor, and John L. Goben, of Crawfordsville. In private conversations the managers of the party say they hope and believe Democratic prospects will During the last few days there has been and believe Democratic prospects will brighten as the months pass by, and they feel confident that by August, the month in which the convention will be held, there will be enough candidates to make the con-vention interesting at least.

The Republican county candidates are said to be exceedingly anxious to keep the civil service question out of the convention. They nearly all declare that they are not in They nearly all declare that they are not in sympathy with the new ideas Mayor Denny has brought from Boston to Indianapolis, but they think it would be unwise to allow the county convention to take up the subject. The county managers of the party had a difficult time keeping the civil service question out of the township convention last Saturday, and they fear they will have still more to contend with when the county convention meets. Many of the ward politicians are saying that they will not support any candidate who will not pledge himself in advance of nomination that he is opposed to civil service. The candidates say they are perfectly willing to make such pledges in private, but they fear that if the convenare perfectly willing to make such pledges in private, but they fear that if the convention should bind them they might lose a large independent vote. The local leaders say they can not foresee at this time what will be the outcome of the situation. They will do all they can to keep the subject out of the convention, and the ward-workers will insist that the convention speak out against the innovation.

There are a number of politicians in Indianapolis who would like to secure "inside" information as to what the A. P. A. is doing in politics. Since the Center town-ship Republican convention there has been street talk to the effect that the A.P. A. has snip Republican convention there has been street talk to the effect that the A. P. A. has controlled the nominations. On the other hand, it is declared by other men that the A. P. A. diq not get more than two candidates. Some of the local Republican leaders are said to be trying to keep the A. P. A. out of the campaign, believing that the party will suffer in case there is a fight brought on between the A. P. While the controversy was between my friend Dr. Wells and the Jews, I, like that While the controversy was between my friend Dr. Wells and the Jews, I, like that lawyer addressed by the Master, was silent, and from the same cause, viz., I had nothing to say. But as Mr. Frankel has seen fit in his wisdom to reproach your humble servant for saying, and all the honorable and learned gentlemen who compose that body for listening, to me while I said, "The Jew even of to-day can not comprehend that the Jew and American are saved by the same gospel." I wish to say a word. The question is, where does Mr. Frankel get this from? He puts up his quotation marks as if it was a veritable quotation from my paper. Now, I am willing that every Jew in town shall read my production fromend to end, and see for himself whether or not such a remark can be found. Moreover, I will say that in all the discussion that followed no such statement was made by any gentleman composing that organization. It may be a fact, but no such remark was made in the paper or in the meeting. I would like Mr. Frankel to make good his quotation.
